

2009 Ski Retreat

Congratulations
You have been selected to be a
Room Captain!

- You will serve as the communicator between the adults and the persons in your room throughout the trip.
- You will need to meet in the lodge lobby once we arrive on Friday to get your instructions for the evening.
- You are responsible for communicating any information that is given to you to the persons in your room and making sure that your roommates are well informed about all of the happenings for the weekend.
- We will have a meeting towards the end of the trip to discuss what has gone well for this trip and what we should consider changing for next year. Time and place of this meeting are to be announced.
- You will lead the persons in your room in a devotion time on Friday and Saturday nights. This will involve a small amount of preparation ahead of time (look over materials on bus ride up).
- Please arrive at the big group times about 15 minutes early on Saturday and Sunday to help with set-up and any last minute details.
- Feel free to contact any adult during the weekend if you or your roommates have any questions.
- You will be responsible for coordinating “room-clean up” on Monday for your room so that it will be ready for inspection before we leave.
- You are responsible for being sure your roommates are at the appropriate places at the appropriate times.

Thank you for serving as the room captain.
We all love you!!!
